d. Chronological Period Covered

The Charles J. Meder Library Archives collects records from the founding of the college in 1965 to the present.

III. Selection Process

Library staff will assess the long-term historical value potential of all items transferred to the Archives. Staff will process and catalog the records and make the items available for public research. Acceptance of material to the Library Archives does not commit the Archives to retain material in perpetuity.

IV. Exclusions

- The Library Archives are not to be used a records retention location for the institution and does not accept personnel or student academic files.
- Donations requiring special housing or excessive demands on archival resources will not be accepted.
- The Archives may be digitized for preservation purposes. Original material may be kept or destroyed.
- The Archives does not accept most three-dimensional artifacts (trophies or sports equipment)
- Employees' personal belongings are not accepted

V. Exceptions

There may be exceptions to the above policies. The Library Archival Staff reserves the right to make all appraisal decisions regarding archival material.
